

Marking its Range

If you wonder whether your house cat marks its territory, watch it rub its cheek on your pant leg or furniture. It uses the same type of scent glands to say, "This is mine!"

House cats also scratch on their scratch post and sometimes on the furniture leaving scent from the glands in their feet.

Can you help this mother find her way back to feed her cubs hiding safely inside the den?

